

FUNERAL OF ALEX. H. WOOD.

Boston Daily Globe (1872-1922); Jun 21, 1899;

ProQuest Historical Newspapers Boston Globe (1872 - 1927)

pg. 8

FUNERAL OF ALEX. H. WOOD.

Ex Pres Grover Cleveland and Joseph Jefferson Among the Mourners.

At 2 30 yesterday afternoon a number of friends of the late Alexander H. Wood of the firm of Wood, Pollard & Co, assembled at the family residence on Savin Hill av, Dorchester, to pay their final tribute of love and respect to his memory. Prominent among the mourners were ex Pres Grover Cleveland and Joseph Jefferson, the veteran actor; Joseph Jefferson Jr, C. B. Jefferson and William Jefferson.

The body, encased in a handsome casket, rested in one of the parlors, surrounded by numerous beautiful floral pieces. Among these tributes were a wreath of roses and laurel from Gen Francis Peabody Jr, an immense pillow of pinks from Mr M. S P. Pollard, a pillow from Mrs William E Russell, wreaths from Mrs Harry Russell, Mrs Dow and Mrs Opermann, and a large piece, "Gates Ajar," from the employes of the Causeway st store.

The service, which was of the simplest order, was conducted by Rev Christopher R. Eliot, formerly pastor of the First parish of Meeting House hill, and now of the Bulfinch pl chapel. There were no pallbearers. The interment was at Forest Hills cemetery.